The Faculty of Science of the University of Zaragoza is organizing the International Science Week (ISWZ). It is a free program of activities aimed at letting foreign science students know the Faculty of Science, the university and the city of Zaragoza. The ISWZ will be held at the University of Zaragoza, from July 2nd to July 7th, 2017. It includes presentations, visits to labs and research institutes, meetings with researchers, science related activities, sports activities, tours of the city and an excursion to the Pyrenees. Participation is free, and it includes accommodation, two daily meals and all activities.

Participants must be between 18 and 25 years old and be enrolled in a BSc or MSc related to Natural Sciences (including Geology, Physics, Chemistry, Biotechnology, Optics...) or Mathematics at any university having an exchange agreement with the University of Zaragoza in any field. The number of participants is limited; in order to apply, students must fill a Registration form by May 5th. Detailed information and the Registration link can be found at
